Compliance Investigation and Enforcement

Introduction

There is an increased expectation by the administrations of countries and the general public to effectively investigate and impose statutory legislation and guidelines in most regulatory agencies today. Such examinations can come under public inquiry specifically where it concerns the ecosystem, community services or our biological resources.

Compliance training and compliance solutions play a vital role in keeping employees updated with organizational policies that are in sync with federal requirements. Immaterial of the industry you operate in, you will find that policies and procedures evolve constantly.

Finding the right resources that can help you stay in touch with these updates can spell the difference between smooth business operations and fines and litigations.

This Compliance Investigation and Enforcement course will provide the basic skills needed to direct a wide range of inspections by officers, public-sector controlling bodies, and other agents in the public sector.

Would inexperienced investigators impact your effectiveness as a compliance enforcement or monitoring agency? Investigators with limited experience can find themselves and their organization on the ‘back foot’ when trying to encourage or enforce compliance of legislation.

This generally occurs where companies or individuals have interests which are not served by complying with regulatory legislation or organizational guidelines.

This Xcelerate training course will empower you with effective investigation training and techniques to foster compliance by client organizations and individuals. Participants can intermingle with experts and regulators in the industry.
