Incoterms 2020

Introduction

What does ‘Incoterms’ mean?

‘Incoterms’ is used to refer to International Commercial Terms for sale/trade worldwide, created by the International Chamber of Commerce and revised at intervals. Incoterms 2020 is the most recent revision.

These rules are a set of standard terms and conditions designed to help traders when goods are sold and transported. Each rule specifies the obligation of each party and the point at which risk transfers from the seller to the buyer.

Incoterms, if incorporated into sales contracts, acts as a mediator to share responsibility and risks between the seller and buyer, thus reducing chances of a dispute. Inclusion of Incoterms eliminates uncertainties of different interpretations of trade terms in different countries.

The scope of Incoterms is restricted to matters related to the rights and obligations of parties involved in a sales contract with respect to the delivery of goods. Thus, Incoterms is a very important initiative for supporting and facilitating foreign trade.

This training course will empower you with a detailed understanding of Incoterms 2020 rules and their applicability worldwide. Since these rules are globally recognized and followed, knowledge and understanding of these will build your capabilities and enhance your skill set to assume responsibilities involving international trade and commerce.

This course will provide you with the knowledge critical for any individual involved at some stage of the import/export process so as to successfully and seamlessly conduct trade and commerce, in turn contributing to the organization- and nation-wide growth and development.

Learning Objectives

Course Outline

The course covers the following topics for understanding Incoterms 2020 rules:

Overview of Incoterms

- History
- Review process
- Summary of changes over time

Application of Incoterms

- Incorporated in sales/purchase contracts
- Standardized approach to potentially difficult commercial issues
- Significant guidance from experienced professionals

Rules for Any Transport Mode

- Ex Works EXW
- Free carrier FCA
- Carriage paid to CPT
- Carriage and insurance paid to CIP
- Delivered at terminal DAT
- Delivered at place DAP
- Delivered duty paid DDP

Rules for Sea and Inland Waterway Only

- Free alongside ship FAS
- Free on board FOB
- Cost and freight CFR
- Cost insurance and freight CIF

Four Types of Incoterm Rule Groups

- Buyer responsible for all carriage (EXW)
- Buyer arranges main carriage (FAS, FOB, FCA)
- Seller arranges main carriage but risk passes after main carriage (DAT, DAP, DDP)
- Seller arranges main carriage; risk passes before main carriage (CFR, CIF, CPT, CIP)

Common Mistakes in Using Incoterm Rules

- Conventional/traditional ‘sea and inland waterway only’ rule instead of ‘all transport mode’ rule for containerised goods

- Failure to specify port/place with sufficient precision
- Use of CIP or CIP without ascertaining whether insurance level matches commercial contract
- Failure to establish treatment of terminal handling charges at point of arrival
- Failure to ascertain liaison between carrier and customs authorities when DAT or DAP used with a post-clearance delivery point
- Using DDP without checking whether seller can adopt all formalities in buyer's country
- Using EXW without checking implications of buyer to complete export procedures

Advantages of Incoterms

- Speed of negotiation
- Elimination of ambiguity in across-country sales/trade contracts
- Easier cost and liability management
- Leeway for buyers to control supply chain
- Minimal liabilities for sellers

Disadvantages of Incoterms

- Misapplication
- Inflated costs for buyers
- Delays in good delivery and availability
- Impact on expenses and income

Issues Addressed by Incoterms 2020

- Risk transfer
- Export clearance
- Transport costs
- Insurance
- Use of carriers/forwarders
- Import clearance
- Security-related clearances
- Electronic freight documentation
